

OASIS EVENT HORIZON

Vol. 5 No. 10 Issue Number 58

March, 1992

{ ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT }

ADDENDI, ERRATI, APOLOGI...

The following aliases have been identified, and the editor submits apologies for the misidentification: "Tim Clark" is Jim Clark, "J. D. Krishnar" is Jadie Christian, and "Scott Simpson" is Scott Ciencin.

The get-together with the Stone Hill Gang is [was] scheduled for February 23.

A lot of the things I wanted to say to all of you this month came in the mail in other people's letters, so if you don't want me to tell you to VOTE THE HUGOS NOW, volunteer!!! to help for OASIS and/or MAGICON, submit some of your "stuff" for the convention issue, or whatever else you can get out of the correspondence, then I'll let their letters speak for me. Where I HAD to put my two cents in, you'll see the brackets: i.e., [ text].

'Til next month...

AN OPEN LETTER TO READERS

Greetings,

Hi, I'm Mike Mize your club President for the next 10 months. I think the profile that was done on me last month gives you a fair picture of myself. The logical next step is for me to get to know you in the upcoming months. Please introduce yourself at the meetings and at the cons that are coming up. I especially want to hear where you think the club should be in the future and what part you wish to play. I may be called at any time of the day, but you might want to talk to John Ferguson first as he is local to Orlando and our current Vice Prez. More later.

S.Y.I.T.F.P.,

Mike Mize

OASIS V Update

Owl Goingback and Jeff Moldovan have been added to the OASIS V guest list. Owl is an author and screen writer and was a guest at OASIS 2. Jeff is an actor, stuntman, screenwriter and martial arts expert. Jeff's screen credits are over two typed pages long and include two years as stunt coordinator on Miami Vice and doubling as stunt double for Edward James Olmos: appearances in the film Master Blaster and on the TV series Superforce and Swamp Thing. We will also be welcoming back Charles L. Fontenay as a guest.

Total membership is about 136 including 17 dealer tables sold. Membership is only $17.00 until 4/15/92. Committee meeting on the 22nd will decide on the college or university of this years Andre Norton Scholarship, the site of next year's convention, ences in the LOOK that a "mere" shift in editors can make. You have already stamped EH with a different look...one that will evolve as you go. Good luck.

If I can help with the convention issue, just let me know-being long distance poses some problems, but the offer is there.

I know I'm going to regret asking this-but who did the piece at the top of page 10?

Thanks!

Dear OASFiS members:

It is difficult even for a writer to find the proper words of thanks for that wonderful and heart warming birthday party -- as well as the goblet which is indeed a treasure. I assure you that this is a major event for me and one which will shine brightly in memory. You were all so kind and gracious and I appreciate your interest and good wishes.

All I can really say are those outworn words thank you!!!!!! But I mean them with double force.

Sincerely,

BEYOND THE EVENT HORIZON

One of our newest members consented to providing a glimpse of himself and his interests for this issue when I accosted him at the February meeting and asked him to submit a profile. I hope that all of our members are as cooperative and display as much sense of humor. If you prefer not to wait until I "get to you" then send your own profile to the Editor.

Curt Harmon reports that he is 36, soon to be 37, and has worked as a construction super for the past three years.

After graduation from high school, he joined the Army where he served for six years as a Special Forces Weapons Specialist.

Upon discharge, he took advantage of an opportunity to travel the country with rock bands until 1985, when he met his present wife in Colorado Springs.

He first became aware of science fiction in 1982 when he came across a copy of "The Forever War" [Joe Haldeman]. "I thought I was getting a book about normal conflict. The book changed my life."

Curt is presently an aspiring science fiction writer, (he "works diligently at collecting rejection slips") [which is] one of the reasons he joined OASFiS.

His hobbies include salt water fish and dogs.
