

AGREEMENT COVERING THE PUBLICATION OF "GARAN THE ETERNAL" IN BOOK FORM

WHEREAS Andre Norton , hereinafter termed the author, and William L. Crawford, known hereafter as the publisher, are mutually desirous of producing in book form four of the author's stories ( People of the Crater, Garan of Yu-lac, One Spell Wizard and Legacy of Sorn Fen) , under the title GARAN THE ETERNAL, they hereby agree to the following terms and conditions.

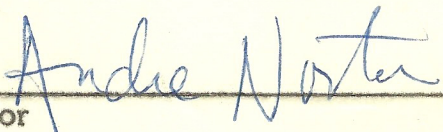

Author agrees to supply copies of the works to be reproduced and warrants that she has the authority to convey the rights of reproduction as cloth-bound books.

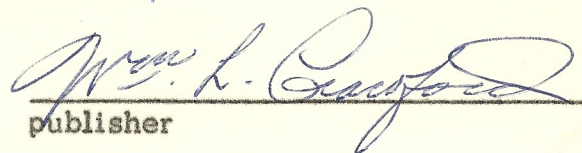

Publisher agrees to publish, distribute and advertise the book to the best of his ability, said publication to occur within one year of the signing of this agreement.

Publisher agrees to pay author a ten per cent royalty of the gross proceeds from the sales of the book, said royalty statements and payments to be made at six month intervals, beginning six months after the book GARAN THE ETERNAL first appears in print. Publisher further agrees to take out a copyright on the book in the name of the author and that all rights other than that of first book publication shall remain the property of the author. However, in the event of any subsidiary sales of the works during the period in which the book is considered to be in print, the proceeds/ from such sales shall be shared equally by both publisher and author. The book shall be considered to be in print as long as copies are being offered for sale at the regular retail price and are being supplied for such sale.

Publisher agrees to supply the author with ten free copies of the book and to permit the author to purchase as many copies as desired at a discount/ of forty percent.

It is agreed that royalties shall not be paid on copies of the book remaindered at a discount greater than 70 per cent (if any).

author

publisher